Chapter 1 by Hisami Tōji

I woke up in a pitch black room.

Not a single light hit my eyes. It was all black. It reminded me of the dream I used to have every single night. It was exactly like this, but, I could sense something.

Something is definitely wrong here!

No. This is just a dream and nothing is wrong. Nothing is wrong.

I could just wait for this dream to be over... or... I could...

I stood up and calmed myself.

I could just take a walk. It's better than waiting for nothing here. Maybe I could find a shortcut out from this dream.

I wandered aimlessly.

Hours have passed by and my feet are about to give up.

This is all a dream, right? Then, why do I feel tired? And why haven't I woke up yet? It's been hours since I started walking and yet why? I don't understand this!

'Ugh!' What was that! I just bumped on something. I hit a wall! I've reached the edge of this place! I might be able to escape!

Wh-What! I can't move my feet! No!! I need to get out of here!!

I tried to move my feet, but, it really won't.

No!! Please!! I need to get out of here please! Please!!

And then, my consciousness disappeared.

Chapter 2 by kingston owen

I met a goddess.

I found myself in a white room with a goddess.

My head hurts and I feel so tired. This room is so white I can't see anything except white. It's an endless white!! It's so different than the first room. Anyways, why was I transported to an another room? It doesn't make any sense, at least to me. I don't know anymore.

I sat down and sighed.

It's been a long time since I inhaled a very light air around me. In my world, the air was so heavy and it was slowly suffocating me. This place is so peaceful. If this is a dream ,then, I don't want to wake up.

"Lena..."

Huh? Someone just called my name.

"Lena Wallenstein"

I turned to where the voice is.

"W-wha... w-who are you?" What is this thing in front of me! It is so dark and it doesn't have a form. No way! Is this thing a...

"Are you a demon!?" Then, did I die and went to hell? That's why this place is so weird.

"I'm sorry, but, I'm not a demon!" It answered.

"I am no other than... The Goddess of Knowledge Alana!"

Goddess of knowledge?! Seriously? Am I supposed to believe it? She looks like a demon to me.

"Human, Will you listen to what I will say?"

It's flames were getting bigger! It's like she's threatening me.. I guess I have no choice.

"Ok, I will." I hope I'll be fine.

"Then, Lena Wallenstein form a contract with me."

Chapter 3 by Nathan.N

"What do you want from me?"

"I only want this" She pointed at me, me? She want me?"

"Give me your eyes"

"-----!" My heart fell, "No! Impossible! I don't to want to go blind, please!"

"Fufu~ Do not worry thou shall not become like this. This goddess only want you and her to exchange their eyes. You shall bear this burden now."

"What?" I stared at her with still incredulous eyes. From the form in front of me I couldn't even see what may look her "eyes". My future was at stake here. I tried to raise my voice but in an instant a blinding light flashed. I raised my arms to protect myself but to no avail.

"LENA WAKE UP!"

"Ah!" I woke in fright with this shout of mom. I looked all around me but I was really back to my room. That's when a wave of uneasiness submerged me from head to toes. I rushed out of my room passing near my mother in the corridor without even saying goodbay. I opened in a never before seen way the bathroom door, paying no attention to my brother, and looked straight at the mirror.
